Taxes up an average $83.

by Jeff Nazzaro
Wilmington homeowners can expect an average residential property tax raise of $83 for fiscal year 1995, a $20 drop from last year's $103 average increase, after selectmen unanimously approved a 1.55 tax classification shift proposed by the Wilmington Board of Assessors Monday night.

The hike comes despite a marked drop in industrial vacancies in Wilmington and a property devaluation of more than $100 million.

"We're looking at the bad news on paper, but we're looking at the good news out there with the construction and the development," Principal Assessor Skip Moynihan said at Monday's meeting.

But at least two selectmen - Diane Allan and Chester Bruce - pushed slightly for no tax raise on residential property, an end that would have required a 1.65 classification shift. Such a shift would stick commercial, industrial and personal property tax payers - with total assets equaling 33 percent of the town's value - with 57 percent of the town's tax burden.

Moynihan said such a move would be "pushing the envelope a little" on Wilmington's industrial and commercial tenants who under the voted shift will pick-up 53 percent of the tax tab.

"I just really did not want to see any increase on the residential tax rate this year," Allan said.

But others on the board, including Gerald Duggan and Robert Cain, warned that raising the industrial tax rate too high could drive out business the town has been so successful in attracting recently.

"We're finally getting business to come back in ... why do we want to send them away?" Cain asked rhetorically.

Meanwhile, using information presented by Moynihan to selectmen, Chairman Michael McCoy pointed out that Wilmington's fortified industrial base has contributed to keeping the town's residential tax rate at one of the lowest levels around.

"If we didn't have such a big industrial rate," McCoy said, "We'd be paying Reading's rate."

The Town of Reading's residential tax rate for FY 95 will be $5.05 per thousand dollars of value more than the $12.29 per thousand Wilmington homeowners will pay.

In fact, Moynihan boasted for Wilmington the second lowest residential tax rate of the six nearby communities of Reading, Tewksbury, Andover, Chelmsford, Burlington and Billerica.

"Figures don't lie," Moynihan stated. "Wilmington is the best deal around residentially."

Other tax facts provided by Moynihan showed Wilmington as 173 out of the 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts in terms of lowest residential tax bill and lowest of the 32 communities economically similar to Wilmington. Additional tax tidbits included:

- The average single family home in Wilmington is valued at $151,927.

- The average single family tax bill will be $1,867.18, a 4.5 percent tax increase from FY 94's $1,781.71 average tax bill.

- On average, residential property dipped three percent in value this year compared with the FY 92 revaluation, while commercial and industrial property values dropped by 13 and 14 percent, respectively.

James Banda had his family around him Saturday night as he was made a lifetime member of VFW Post 2458, in Wilmington. With Jim are his wife, Gladys, grandsons Corey Banda and Eric Banda, Jr., son Eric with wife Cindy, Jim Jr. with wife Pat and daughter Debbie with husband Steve Scipione (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

"The test results are good"

by Jeff Nazzaro
Massachusetts Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) 1994 test results for fourth, eighth and tenth grade students have been released and show improvement among Wilmington students, Superintendent Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell said.

"I think generally speaking there's some good news here," O'Donnell stated.

The tests combine open-ended, essay type questions with those of the multiple choice variety and measure student ability in reading, math, science, social studies and writing.

"The overall results are good news for Wilmington in that there were increases in the number of students who achieved in the higher proficiency levels, especially in reading. We can also see improvements in mathematics and science," O'Donnell said.

MEAP began using proficiency levels in 1992 as the major vehicle for reporting test results, according to Commissioner of Education Robert Antonucci in a memorandum announcing the scores to the state's superintendents and principals.

"This year, we continue to stress proficiency levels because they describe actual student achievement more thoroughly than scaled scores and provide you with a 'performance profile' of your students," Antonucci told educators.

Wilmington placed an average of 21 percent of its grade four students in levels three and four of the four level scale (four being highest); 24 percent of eighth graders achieved the higher levels and 20 percent of tenth graders reached levels three and four.

"The proficiency levels describe what students in each level can do," O'Donnell explained. "Students whose results place them in proficiency levels one and two are beginning to understand the basic facts and concepts within the curriculum, while those placing in levels three and four can go beyond the facts and are able to analyze and evaluate material."

Overall, grade four and eight students showed slight drops from levels three and four from their 1992 counterparts. But a whopping 25 percent of Wilmington's eighth graders rose from below level one status compared to two years ago.

Comparisons for tenth grade students are not available, since the tests were administered to high school seniors prior to this year.

The greatest strides for Wilmington test takers came in reading, where fourth graders notched a 12 percent jump into the highest level. Eighth grade students showed a 13 percent decline in those below level one while registering a nine point pop in level four over 1992's results.

O'Donnell, while pleased with the results, also spoke towards what could be given improved school system conditions while crediting the town's teachers for essentially making do.

"Overall, we are pleased with the results. They clearly indicate that our teachers are doing a tremendous job in our classrooms, many under adverse conditions," O'Donnell said, referring to instances of high student/teacher ratios and outdated teaching materials within the system.

O'Donnell is scheduled to provide reports and recommendations to the school committee after further disseminating test results with the Wilmington Administrative Team in the next two weeks. The school committee meeting is Wednesday, December 14 at 7:00 p.m. in Town Hall Room 9.

Wilmington seniors and fire fighters are teaming up for Toys for Tots this year. The seniors at the Drop in Center have donated and are going to continue to bring toys to the center where they will be collected by the Wilmington firefighters to be distributed to Wilmington children.

Peterson, who served on the Wilmington School Committee for nine years, swept the votes of the four school committee members - Chairman Paul Palizzolo, Robert Young, Robert Surran and James Demos - while adding a nod from Gillis.

Peterson will serve on the committee until the next annual town election, to be held in April. At that time, a successor will be voted to finish out the remainder of John Gillis' three-year term.

Christmas Tree lighting Saturday...

by Jeff Nazzaro

Oh tannenbaum, Oh tannenbaum! The Wilmington Fourth of July Committee and the Wilmington Council of Churches will be joining with merry gentlemen, gentlewomen and gentlechildren this Saturday evening at 6:30 for the annual tree lighting ceremony on Town Common.

All are welcome to attend this ushering in of the Christmas season. Join friends and neighbors, warm up those vocal cords and sing Christmas Carols alongside the Wilmington High School band, the Methodist Church Choir and the Congregational Church Handbell Choir and Brass Band.

Then get ready for the arrival of the jolly old elf from the North Pole. Pictures with Santa will be available for a requested $3 donation.

Beginning at 2, residents can watch a giant block of ice be transformed into a dazzling sleigh ice sculpture, courtesy of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. Completion of the sculpture is slated for 6:45.

The Wilmington Garden Club's Festival of Trees will be on display at the Arts Center for your Yuletide viewing pleasure following the tree lighting ceremony.

And then it's time to wind down and warm up with hot chocolate donated by the Knights of Columbus to go along with Christmas cookies.

Residents are asked to bring a canned good for the Wilmington Food Commissary and/or a new toy to help support the Toys for Tots program, with toys being distributed to needy children in Wilmington.

In case of rain, the event will be held Sunday. Snow is welcome.

...then on to the Congregational Church

The Wilmington Congregational Church will host a special Christmas concert by the 30 piece New England Brass Band Saturday, Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. at the church on Middlesex Avenue. Proceeds from admissions will go to benefit the church. Ticket are $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for children.

This excellent band, which is based in Boston, is typical of the British "all brass" tradition, where brass banding was founded in the 1840s and continues to this day. The band now in its sixth year, continues under the baton of William Rollins.

The unique "all brass" instrumentation produces the familiar bright sounds of brass and a rich expressive mellow sound so wonderfully appropriate at the Christmas holiday season.

The band will present a diverse program of traditional Christmas favorites, both secular and sacred in addition to familiar concert pieces arranged for this large brass group.

Please be seated by 7:50 p.m. For more information contact the Rev. Thomas Dean at the Wilmington Congregational Church, 508-658-2264.

North Intermediate news

On Tuesday, Nov. 22, several students from the North Intermediate School attended a field trip to the Pine Street Inn homeless shelter in Boston.

All of the students who went on the field trip wrote a composition about their feelings of homeless people and how they may be able to help solve the homeless problem presently plaguing our country.

On the trip, they toured the facility and enjoyed a group discussion with staff members of the inn.

The students have been involved in an on going project concerning homeless people. The activities included a class panel discussion with Bill McEvoy, public affairs director of the Pine Street Inn, as well as a "Pennies for the Pine Street Inn" drive in which students and staff donated their pennies, nickels and dimes to help the inn.

Pet Pics with Santa

On Saturday, Dec. 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., area pets and other residents are invited to take part in a program that will help raise funds for orphaned, lost and abandoned animals in the care of Wilmington's Animal Control Program.

Santa Claus will drop by Wilmington Pet Shop, 634 Main Street, to have his picture taken with area pets and/or children. Santa will be accompanied by a miniature horse in complete Christmas regalia, special braids and decorations.

Photos will be taken professionally, and they'll be ready for Christmas!

DEFER TAXES WITH A SWAP

Real estate investors can defer taxes on gains by exchanging property instead of selling it. Putting that value into another rental property instead of paying taxes with it right away is easier than it used to be and increasingly popular.

Swapping techniques apply to business and investment property only. The exchange need not be a direct one. The properties need not have similar values; as long as the new property costs as much as the old one, and the mortgage is as high or higher - so you don't get any cash out of it - the tax is deferred. The rules are strict on timing the deals and who qualifies to be an intermediary to hold the money while the deal is pending. In an exchange, the buyer carries over the basis of the old property to the new; this may limit the depreciation that can be taken.

Important: because there are technicalities involved, work with a professional familiar with them. This is no do-it-yourself job.

A contest you can win

Every year some house gets national attention for being decorated in such a way that everyone for hundreds of miles drives by to see it.

In Tewksbury and Wilmington not many houses get national attention, but the Town Crier would like to give a few houses their deserved recognition. The Town Crier will accept nominations by phone and mail for the award "best decorations". An elite panel of judges will be sent forth to view the nominees and will report back to the readers with their selections. Categories will be made up as the judges see the houses. Special awards likewise.

Winners will see a lovely photo of their home in the paper on December 21st. There are no other prizes. This is all just for fun, so call in an nominate your neighbors! Deadline is Dec 16 at 5:00 p.m.

Mail nominations to Town Crier, P.O. Box 939, Wilmington, MA 01887 or just call 658-2346 during normal business hours.

High and dry

by Stu Neilson

What could be worse than trying to prepare Thanksgiving dinner without water? The several families on High Street in Wilmington were high and dry on Thursday morning for several hours because of a water main foul up at the Rt 62 intersection. Water was restored and everyone was thankful before 2 p.m. But to answer the question: What's worse — digging in that cold wet hole while your family holds up their Thanksgiving dinner waiting for you to get there. Many thanks to the Wilmington Water Guys from this High Street resident.

A bloodless revolution

by Bill Conlon

Do you want less government intrusion? Less regulation? Fewer federal laws? It could happen, and virtually overnight.

Boston Globe columnist Jeff Jacoby presented an interesting yet chilling argument in a November 16 editorial.

In his treatise, Jacoby brought up the case of a Texas kid who was caught with a .38 revolver at his school. Now, instead of prosecuting the kid under Texas law, the officials chose to prosecute him under the federal Gun Free Schools Act. The kid was convicted and sentenced, open and shut, but an appeal was filed. The basis of the appeal is staggering, and it opens perhaps the biggest can of worms in American history.

The kid's attorney argued that the federal government has absolutely no power under the U.S. Constitution to enact such a law. The appeal was supported by the Circuit Court of Appeals, and arguments in the case were recently heard by the U.S. Supreme Court, according to Jacoby.

The Constitution gives the federal government very little power, limited to the rights to collect taxes, coin money, provide for the common defense, and regulate commerce between the states. That's about it. Furthermore, all powers not specifically given to the federal government belong to the states, or to individuals, as per the 10th Amendment. The Founding Fathers wanted to keep the central government small, but that has changed a bit, hasn't it?

According to Jacoby, the floodgates opened during Franklin Roosevelt's presidency. The Supreme Court had routinely negated unconstitutional laws prior to then, but FDR had grandiose plans. When the Supreme Court threatened to void his New Deal legislations, FDR threatened to "pack" the court with six new members who would vote the way he wanted.

So, the Court held its collective nose and allowed FDR's sweeping social creations, under a loose interpretation of the interstate commerce clause.

Now, what does bringing a gun into school have to do with commerce between the states? Exactly nothing, so the law is unconstitutional. While a law banning guns in schools makes sense, it has no constitutional basis.

But that's just the tip of the iceberg! How many other federal laws are likewise out of step with the Constitution? The mind boggles.

The Clean Air Act, the Endangered Species Act and all of the drug and immigration laws on the books — unconstitutional.

How about the entire Welfare and Social Security systems? They have no constitutional basis. Likewise the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and even the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), just to scratch the surface. As for health care reform, don't even think it.

The Court could make confetti out of the federal law book, tearing out page after page of long-accepted federal statutes as unconstitutional. If the Supreme Court has the stones to tackle such a Herculean and historic task, America would be a dramatically different place, overnight.

Chaos? Anarchy? Perhaps. There might be a lot of babies thrown out with the bathwater, but it wouldn't be the end of the world, only the end of Washington's overbearing power. Each state would have to take up the slack, enacting laws of their own to replace the vaporized federal statutes, but many of the federal laws would simply disappear, with states unwilling or unable to replace them.

The ramifications are immense, and everything depends upon the nerve of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Now, everything I read out of Washington is seen in a different light. If the Justices of the U.S. Supreme Court execute their sworn duty, the whole country changes, and the behemoth that Washington has become will turn into the mouse that the Founding Fathers intended.

Thanks Jeff. Interesting stuff indeed. Now, what will the Court do?

Actually Cunningham, you've got a good shot at first place...
...if you'll just get on the other side of that door while we grade the design for taste and originality.

letters to the editor

Please stand on your own two feet

Dear Larz:

I did not think it would be appropriate in the Holiday Edition to respond to that diatribe which was written by Mark Haldane and printed in the November 16 issue of your paper.

Try as he might to make this a partisan issue, his effort fails.

It was strictly a non-partisan remark to your reporter on the night of the election when I strongly conveyed the message that Mark Haldane stands for negative campaigning and dirty politics at its worst. His history of participation over the last few years in the political process in Wilmington has been marred by negative politics.

Mark has always talked a good game about being fiscally conservative and streamlining payrolls, but this hypocrite ran into Boston right after the 1990 election to get himself a $52,000 a year state job.

So, Mark, this debate between you and me is just that — a debate. It's not about Bill Weld, Treasurer Malone or Ann Visconte. Please stand on your own two feet.

The remainder of the content in your letter was also pure fiction. In conclusion, Mark, I have worked hard in trying to solve the problems my district has faced. Wilmington is currently attempting to solve the problem relative to school space. I know you, as a member of the Permanent Building Committee, will be very much involved with the problem over the next 12 months. I look forward to working with you to solve this most important issue which the town is ready to request help from the School Building Assistance Bureau.

I would like to state once more that I am extremely appreciative for all of the support the Democrats, Republicans and Unenrolled/Independent voters gave me in November's election, and I will continue to work diligently on behalf of my constituents.

Sincerely,
Representative Jim Miceli

Prejudice in our little town

An Open Letter to a Grandma:

You are the grandmother of one of my daughter's second grade classmates at the Woburn Street School. I must thank you for introducing her to the concept of prejudice. Since she's seven years old, it's high time she learned, and you are so knowledgeable on the subject.

Let me explain; after we lit the Hanukkah lights tonight, my daughter told me that "something sad happened in class today." She said quietly that your grandson "doesn't like the Jews."

Hearing my daughter's words was like turning on a harsh, cold spotlight in the soft glow of our kitchen. How angry I was to have our holiday evening spoiled!

I took a deep breath and told her calmly (betraying none of my inner turmoil), "You know, he wasn't born feeling that way. Someone else had to teach him."

My daughter nodded. "It's his grandma. She told him that Jews are bad. He says that Hanukkah isn't a real holiday."

Since my daughter is lucky enough to have six lovely living grandparents, three Jewish and three Christian, I found it hard to explain to her that some grandparents have ugly feelings that they are compelled to share with their families and friends.

I was gratified to hear that another of my daughter's classmates told the teacher about your grandson's careless remark. The teacher had a conversation with him and most likely explained to him the extent of the hurt feelings he caused. Knowing that she is a fine teacher, I am sure that your grandson is now more aware of the effects and prejudice and may even grow to question your ignorance in the future.

Perhaps I can send the teacher to your house, too.

A concerned parent

25 years ago

Bill Andrews was pictured at a surprise retirement party during which he received his letter, the only non-sportsman other than Dr. Fagan to earn the award given by the Booster's Club to varsity players. Bill was also awarded a toy tractor, a replica of the one he drove during his many years as a member of the School Grounds Maintenance Department. Town Manager Sterling Morris was pictured holding the tractor with Supt. of Public Buildings, Fred Jaeschke looking on.

Richard Howlett of Glen Road was appointed senior internal auditor in the home office audit department of New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., Boston.

According to Nosey Nancy, Ed Sargent retired as superintendent of the water department.

Elia's Market offered tangerines, 39 cents a dozen; stew beef, 88 cents a pound; California pot roast, 59 cents a pound.

At Lucci's one could purchase Hills Bros. coffee, 59 cents a pound; Bluebird frozen orange juice, three 12 oz cans for $1; Red Rose tea bags, box of 100, 79 cents.

The Town Crier offered a subscription to January 1, 1971 for $3.35 for Wilmington residents or $4.45 for those living out of town.

Recycling schedules leaf something out

Dear Larz:

I just today spoke to a person on the recycling committee who was most courteous and very helpful regarding the cut-off date for leaf pickup.

I called because I feel the cutoff date is much too soon. Perhaps a later starting date and a later ending date may be more appropriate. An awful lot of us, both husband and wife, are working persons and the leaves fall when they fall. In our personal experience, this year, when the majority of the leaves fell, we had just two pickup dates left to collect all these leaves.

Our family believes in recycling and we do as much as possible to recycle, and feel that the town is doing a very good job as well. What we would like to see is an extended time for leaf pickup. The end of November would seem much more logical for us to bag the leaves and get them picked up.

I'm sure it is not only our area of town that is overwhelmed with trees and if you feel this extended time would be helpful, please contact Mr. Cressman at the town hall and make your voices heard.

Anyone for leaf soup tonight??? We have plenty to share.

Sincerely,
Rosemarie A. Krugh

Water — I'd like some planning

Dear Larz:

Re: Water, Water Everywhere — at the Wrong Rate article by Stephen Edmonds.

A Wilmington homeowner, 33 years, I certainly agree with his statement. Not only am I very aware of conserving water use, but I also installed a shallow well sprinkler system for my lawn which cost $2500 plus annual maintenance. As he said, we are charged $28.30 per 1,000 c.f. whether we use it or not. The system need not defeat itself, if the water dept. gave us the use/dollar credit during the peak usages.

And aren't the labor expenses lowered since we all now must read our own meters which lessens the need for meter readers, trucks and gas??

Another item I'd like to address is that the water department had made only a survey a few years ago as to the future installation of sewage which would take place "...15 years away" (the cost for such installation would mean several thousand dollars to the homeowner); asked if we would like to have it, and choices as to how to pay for it. Not long after the survey, it appeared that it was a definite plan. So, everyone is thinking where is the best place to tip up the basement, forced to take a loan, and water bills will double — THEN, Title 5 enters the homeowners headaches, which says, as I understand it, all our septic tanks must meet certain standards or must be rebuilt at a horrendous cost to each homeowner — since the majority of Wilmington homes have septic systems. A Catch 22 situation. The homeowner is going to spend thousands of dollars whichever way you look at it. And, then there are those thousands who have problems with water in their basements because Wilmington's water table is high. We're drowning in costs.

H.M.

Yes, that's a house being driven down a normally quiet side street in Wilmington. The house was moved Tuesday and Wednesday from Woburn Street to be attached to the Morris residence on Salem Street in Wilmington. Town DPW workers, police, light department employees and workers for Continental Cablevision all pitched in to clear the way for the wide (and tall) load, while earlier ...

... the house passed by the Woburn Street Elementary School. Do you remember what you did in the third grade? These kids will, at least on that day they were let outside to watch a house drive past the school.

Story hour

by Bill Conlon

The shotgun deer harvest is underway in Massachusetts, and the game will continue until December 10.

One interesting feature of hunting, and especially deer hunting, are the stories and tales that swirl around the campfire. Storytelling has been a part of hunting since before history began, and the tales continue to this very day. Whenever a deer is seen, or bagged, there's a story to tell.

These are a few of my favorites, but there are new stories generated every deer season. Got a good one?

Uncle John's Ghost

My uncle John Murray was once working the side of a hill outside of Hillsboro, New Hampshire, when he stopped to take a break on a rock. If I know my uncle, he was probably munching on a Slim Jim, with his Remington semiautomatic .30-06 on his lap.

After a few minutes, Uncle John turned his head, and there was the legendary "Grey Ghost," a buck of epic proportions that several hunters had seen over the years, but nobody had ever nailed. The Ghost was just strolling along, and never saw Uncle John. Once in a lifetime stuff. John ever so slowly brought the rifle to his shoulder, took aim, and fired. Boom! Nothing. The buck didn't twitch. John aimed and fired again. Same thing -- missed clean. (I still rib him about his accuracy over this event.) John's third round, however, was the fateful shot.

No, Uncle John didn't bag the big buck. Instead, the spent cartridge, as it ejected from the semi, bounced off the rock, and that was the ballgame. The deer had paid no attention to the boom the rifle, possibly thinking it was thunder, but the "ting" of that empty brass brought the buck's head up, and in a flash the Grey Ghost did the disappearing act that had made him the stuff of legend.

To the best of my knowledge, the Grey Ghost died of old age. Nobody ever got him. Ever.

Eddie's Unlucky Crate

Eddie Silva, former owner of the Wildside Sports Center in Wilmington, had an aggravating time in the Berkshires a few years back.

Eddie was sitting on a plastic milk crate during bow season, with a nice view of a heavily-used deer trail and a thick stand of white pine at his back. Perfect location.

After awhile, Eddie had a sudden urge to look over his left shoulder. When he turned his head, there was a monster buck, not 20 yards away and staring right at him. Uh oh! The deer never made a sound sneaking up in the thick pine needles.

If you even blink while a deer is staring at you, he's gone. Bringing a bow up into shooting position and drawing back an arrow is out of the question. Eddie must have blinked.

A half-dozen guys worked that hill over the next few days, but the big buck was never seen again. Gone.

Bob, Unplugged
Bob Parrinello and I hunted Utah's desert hills for several years while I was in college.

Once, we came upon a big valley, almost like a gigantic amphitheater. I told Bob to work along the bottom, while I climbed the hillside to kick through a stand of aspen trees on the south edge, hopefully to shake out a sleeping buck, if any were there.

No sooner did I enter the stand of quakes than something crashed out the other side. The deer was out of my range by the time I saw it, and was headed full tilt for the bottom of the valley, straight toward Bob.

I saw Bob down at the bottom of the draw with his rifle propped on the sagebrush, and he was engaged in ... um ... a bodily function. I gave a whistle to alert him, and Bob was able to aim, fire and drop the six-pointer with one shot.

To this day, I swear to God that Bob didn't have time to zip before he took that shot. Impossible.

He says otherwise. Yeah, right.

Outrageous shots

According to a family story, my grandfather once dropped two deer with a single shot, while hunting in New Hampshire. The shotgun slug passed through one, and nailed one that was walking beside it. I was also told that Gramps had a real doozy of a time trying to convince the local game warden of his lucky shot.

A sergeant I knew in the Air Force once told me that he was hunting in the mountains with a few friends and they spotted a couple of bucks on the distant side of a valley, well beyond range. Chuck said he carried a small pistol, in case he needed to apply a mercy shot, and he decided "oh what the hell." So he squeezed off a pure guesswork shot, with his pocket gun, at a God-awful distance. Chuck said his jaw dropped when the deer did. Yup, he hit it.

--- Tackle Box ---

I didn't fill my archery tag during vacation last week, but I did try. My travels included a foray or two into the Great Swamp in Tewksbury, and I do believe I'll be back there soon.

I despise Howie Carr's radio show on the Opening Day of deer season. This year he put off his annual slam of hunters (he insists we're drunk in the woods) until Tuesday, so that he could snicker at the Jeffrey Dahmer killing on Monday. Thankfully, this year Carr only bashed hunters for one hour, instead of the whole four-hour show last year. Can slander be brought as a class-action lawsuit? He deserves it.

Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club will hold its next NRA Personal Protection Firearms Course in January, on the last weekend of the month but no class in December. Call George at 851-6286 to reserve a seat.

The North Reading Rifle Club has a Firearms Responsibility Course set for next month, at $25 per. The class begins Wednesday, December 7, at 7 p.m. and continues over the next two Wednesdays. Call 664-2703 after 6 p.m. to sign up.

The mills near Sandy Pond

by Capt. Larz Neilson
James Thompson, Deacon James Thompson by tradition had the first home near Sandy Pond, in what is now Wilmington. Sometime he spelled his name Jeames. His family had been living in Woburn, and traced back to settlers in Charlestown in 1632.

Deacon Thompson built his home beside what is now the Tewksbury-Wilmington line in 1720. At that time it was the Billerica-Woburn line.

The home into which he and his family moved in 1720 today bears a sign, saying it was constructed in 1795. That was the sign which was supposed to have gone on "The Elms," at the corner of Harnden Street and Glen Road. A grandson of the Deacon built that Harnden Street home in 1795. He was an attorney at law named Benjamin Thompson.

Someone put the sign on the wrong house. The Wilmington Historical Commission is keenly aware of the error. It hopes that it will some day be corrected.

Two other families were living near Sandy Pond, now Silver Lake. Like Deacon Thompson they were of Woburn, people who had moved into Goshen, the northern territory of the Town of Woburn.

The Butters family and others had moved north from Woburn in the 1660s, using what is now Chestnut Street as their route of travel. Main Street, Wilmington, from what is now Eames Street, did not exist in those early years.

By tradition Deacon James seems to have lived northerly of Butters Row before 1720, but no place has been named as to the site.

The two other families near Sandy Pond were named Pierce. The early records show only one Pierce home, near the present corner of Jones Avenue and Glen Road. Readers may remember a recent reference to that home, in this paper, it being the farmhouse in which Ed Nelson Eames was born in 1858.

A child named Hannah was born in December 1733 to Thomas and Hannah Pierce and a second child, named Timothy, was born to Joseph and Deborah Pierce in October, 1734.

The maiden name of Hannah Pierce was Thompson. She was quite probably a sister of Deacon James, and, in a sense, that provides a clue as to why Deacon James Thompson moved to the Billerica-Woburn line.

He and his brother-in-law (or brothers in law) had been looking over the area of Sandy Pond, and had found a site where a mill might be constructed. A mill, run by water power, was in those days, a very fine thing to own.

There is, in the Cambridge Court records, a deed signed by one of the brothers giving the Deacon the right to dig a ditch from Sandy Pond to Lubbers Brook. That ditch (cir 1722) is still in existence, and may be seen beside the radio store owned by Danny Cosman.

In 1720 when the Deacon moved to his new home there was a stream running from Sandy Pond to Lubbers Brook, via what is now Williams Avenue. The water level of Sandy Pond was lower than is today's water level of Silver Lake.

At about the same time that the new ditch was being dug those men were building a dam, to prevent water from flowing from Sandy Pond over, well, Williams Avenue.

The present road level of Main Street, above the water of Silver Lake is due partly to their efforts.

A dam was constructed at Lubbers Brook, near the present Glen Road, for the mill. "Pop's Hill" as it has been termed since about 1900 extended, at that time down to the brook. A person who stands on the Glen Road bridge and looks upstream used to be able to see the stonework of that dam on both sides of the brook. Today there is a heavy growth of brush.

To the left one could look uphill, and see that a part of the hill had been excavated in order to provide "fill" for the dam, etc.

That, today, cannot be done. There are too many trees, both brush and fir. Seeing it isn't like it used to be.

Various sketches have been made, over the years, showing where the mill building was, according to the ideas of the person making the sketch. Somewhere, someone has made errors.

The site of the Thompson Mill was quite probably adjacent to the stonework, which was on both sides, near a small waterfall. From there the millpond extended upstream nearly to Main Street.

And, incidentally, the Eames family did not live in that old farmhouse for many years after Ed Nelson was born. Horace Caswell, born in Canada, married Emma Marshall in 1872. Horace had built the big house on the corner of Main Street and Glen Road, and Emma lived in the old Pierce farmhouse across the street.

The farmhouse burned down sometime about 1900. Another home was built about 1926 on the same site.

Wall of Malice

Shatter the wall that comes between us
The structure that's meant to keep us,
Apart from what we are entitled to be.
We're stale-mated knights
Kept down from borders on the sea.
Unloving hearts, devoted to fatal self pity.
The wall will claim my city's casualties.

Crush the core of the resistance
Form your stance, keep your distance
From an oppressor who would nail you to the ground
Vacant faces wearing painted frowns
Fall prey to the matters of the town.
Disturbing facts disturbing but sound.

Why must we wait for devastation ?
Deafened ears flip the station,
To the channel of answers to be,
Easy to swallow, simple to see,
Though the door does not fit the golden key,
It cures their simple curiosity.

On being world wide and local

Looking for a thoughtful, thought-provoking, stimulating, inexpensive, unique, internationally, nationally, regionally and locally inspired Christmas gift which benefits not only the giver and the recipient but also those less fortunate than they?

The second edition of "Among the Tribes of Belial's Jest," is now available at select Massachusetts bookstores and in Wilmington and is packed with 46 poetic gems penned by former Wilmington resident Damie Pierce.

Pierce, who now makes her home in Holland, was born Linda Ann Dipersio in Cambridge before moving with her family to Wilmington in 1972, where she attended Wilmington High School. Her parents, Joan and Livio, and a brother, Steven, still make their home on Andover Street.

"Being her parents, we're very proud," Joan Dipersio said of the work her daughter is doing, both artistically and charitably.

Linda Dipersio adopted her mother's maiden name, Pierce, to go along with the nickname "Damie" as a stage name with which to maraud the New England club scene with various local bands as a singer/songwriter in the late 70's and early 80's.

Pierce kept the name, heightened her flair for verse and retired her microphone.

The first edition of "Among the Tribes ..." was published in 1993 in the Netherlands by Willemsen Publications. Last year Pierce donated a copy of that book to Wilmington Memorial Library.

But more important, she donated 30 percent of the profits from sales of the volume to the Bosnian Red Cross.

"I worked with the Bosnian Red Cross and we were successful in getting much needed aid into Bosnian and Slovenian refugee centers via convoys," Pierce said.

Now, with an improved second edition in hand and with the strength of a self-formed organization (AAVOLON) Pierce is focusing her charitable efforts in a more local direction: towards Rosie's Place in Boston.

"Being from Massachusetts and the Boston area, I wanted to help my own region and people this year," Pierce said.

AAVOLON (Artists Against Violence and Oppression) is a collective of authors, artists and educators based in the Netherlands.

As with all AAVOLON publications, 50 percent of the sales of Pierce's book will go directly to a fund to assist women and children throughout the world who have been victimized by violence and oppression.

Rosie's Place, the sole benefactor of half the sales of "Among the Tribes ..." is a privately funded shelter offering a crucial refuge for poor and homeless women in the Greater Boston area. It was also the nation's first such facility for women, and has been in operation for more than 20 years.

"The second edition is of a much better quality than the first with a much larger print run, so it's going well and we hope to raise a good amount for Rosie's this year," Pierce said. "It will certainly assist in making many women and children's lives just a bit more comfortable during these cold winter months ahead."

The second edition of "Among the Tribes of Belial's Jest," by Damie Pierce, can be purchased at the Harvard Book Shop in Harvard Square, Cambridge; Waterstones, in Copley Square, Boston; and New Words Books in Cambridge; or locally by calling Joan Dipersio at 658-5757. The cost of the book is $10.

Accreditation talks hosted by TMHS

Tewksbury Memorial High School (TMHS) hosted a preparatory accreditation seminar on Thursday, November 10, 1994. Mr. William DeGregorio, principal of TMHS, Mr. Anthony Romano, assistant principal, Mr. Tom Walsh, special education department, and Mr. Donald Sullivan, fine arts department attended the seminar.

Sponsored by the Commission on Public Secondary Schools of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, the program was offered for principals and self-study steering committee members of schools scheduled to be accredited this year. The seminar provided information to help schools finalize their plans for the evaluation visit and to learn more about the evaluation report and its consideration by the Commission on Public Secondary Schools. Participants shared their reactions to the self study process with members of the Commission staff.

The New England Association of Schools and Colleges, founded in 1885, is the oldest accrediting agency in the country and is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education as a reliable agency to award accreditation to New England schools. The Association is a voluntary accrediting agency of over 1600 public and independent schools, colleges and universities, and vocational, technical and career institutions. Of these, approximately 719 public middle level and high schools have been accredited through the Association's Commission on Public Secondary Schools.

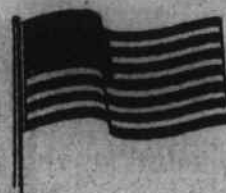

TMHS will be one of the first schools to be accredited under the new standards. Staff members at TMHS have been hard at work for over a year preparing for their evaluation visit in the spring of 1995. Parental input is welcome. Call Mr. DeGregorio at 851-2011 if you are interested.

IT'S OK TO ASK QUESTIONS

Most people are not at their best when they are at the closing table. As they sign for their mortgage, they are feeling nervous and vulnerable, and are often fighting off that last attack of buyer's remorse.

Even though you may be inclined to just sign the papers and move in at this point, it is a good idea to check over the paperwork and ask any questions you have. If you are signing a mortgage or deed of trust, make certain that your name is correct, and double check the property address and other blanks that are typed into the documents. It is especially important to look over the deed which conveys the seller's title to you for accuracy. Since much of the paperwork is prepared on short notice by clerks at the lender's office who are working under a lot of pressure, occasionally there are mistakes. These mistakes are usually easier to fix while you are still at the title office, don't be shy about asking questions before you sign on the dotted line.

For professional advice on buying or selling real estate, please drop by our office in The Starwood Building at 299 Main Street, or call us at 657-8444.

Wilmington library notes

Holiday books and materials

The holiday season is once more upon us. The library is featuring, both upstairs and down, new and old books of fiction and non-fiction to help readers prepare for, celebrate, and enjoy the December holidays. Many seasonal picture books, craft books, recordings, and titles associated with "The Nut Cracker" ballet are temporarily on one week loan to allow as many people as possible to make use of them during December.

New books

New adult non-fiction titles ready for check out are:
 Christmas trees: Growing and Selling Trees, Trees, Wreaths and Greens by Lewis Hill.
 Dealing with People you Can't Stand: How to Bring Out the Best in People at their Worst by Dr. Rick Brinkman.
 Herbs: The Visual Guide to More Than 700 Herb Species from Around the World by Lesley Bremness.

Mind your Body Medicine: How to use your Mind for Better Health by Consumer Report Books.

Pre-school holiday party

The library's traditional holiday celebration for pre-schoolers and their families will take place Wednesday, December 14 in the library's Conference Room from 10:30 to 11:30. Families are asked to take contributions of home baked cookies, which always serves to add to the special qualities of this annual event. The library provides a festive fruit punch following a short program which includes a filmstrip, finger plays and the singing of "Jingle Bells."

Registration is not necessary for this popular program. There is always a chance of snow storms at this time of year. If there is no school in the Wilmington Public Schools because of a storm, the library's pre-school party will be canceled.

England, France, and Italy were visited last summer by 14 students and three teachers from the Wilmington area. The trip proved to be so much fun and so educational that those three teachers are planning to take a group back this summer.

A trip to Greece including Athens, Rhodes and several of the beautiful islands in between is on the agenda for this summer.

Participants will be exposed not only to the Greek culture, language, and cuisine, but will also meet new friends from different parts of the United States.

An organizational and informational meeting will be held for all interested students or adults who would like more information about this venture. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, December 13, 1994 at the WCTV studio (the Swain School).

Feyler and Woods graduate fire academy

Chief Daniel R. Stewart of the Wilmington Fire Department has announced the recent graduation of David Feyler and David Woods from the Massachusetts Firefighting Academy's 55 day Recruit Firefighting Program. The program, which is offered tuition free to municipal firefighters in the Commonwealth, is designed to provide new firefighters with the basic skills necessary to insure their effective performance in their jobs.

The graduation exercises held on November 18, 1994 marked the conclusion of an intensive and-in-depth 55 day program for all students. The students' primary concern was learning basic firefighting skills but during this time they were also introduced to more advanced topics, such as Public Fire Education training, Hazardous Materials, Stress Management, Water Rescue, Confined Space, and Rappelling which will be important as their careers progress.

Students receive classroom training in all the basic firefighting skills, such as ladders, hose, and protective breathing apparatus, and the classroom training is reinforced by performing practical field evolutions...first under non-fire conditions, and then during controlled fire conditions. By graduation, students have had practical hands-on experience with live fires in buildings, vehicles, flammable liquids, flammable gas and will have successfully fought these fires as effectively and safely as possible.

Upon successful completion of the Recruit Program, all students have met all qualifications of NFPA 1001, certification of Firefighter I and II as accepted by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The best November
Another month has faded into the past. We will all remember it as one of the best November in many years. December 1 begins the most hectic month of the year with all its preparation and celebrations for two very important holidays, Chanukah and Christmas. Unfortunately December is also the month many of our seniors have to be hospitalized with flu or pneumonia, broken bones and heart attacks. Precautions can be taken to avoid all of these problems. Be careful when greeting grandchildren with colds. All of us love children and want to express our love for them, but children with colds can shake it easily, an older person cannot and in most cases a cold will develop into a serious illness.

Take care
Be careful walking on ice or packed snow, one slip could put you in the hospital with a broken leg, hip, ribs or back. Shopping cleaning can exhaust you causing a heart attack. Please protect yourself to enjoy the holidays and the rest of the winter months.

Celebrations
The holiday celebrations in the senior center will begin with the decoration of a Christmas tree the first week of December. The December therapeutic holiday dinner dance will be held at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks on Friday, December 16. Monday December 19, 100 holiday catered Christmas meals will be delivered to our ill, disabled or advanced age seniors by volunteers. We will need 10 volunteer drivers to deliver these meals. If you want to feel the full meaning of the holidays, go into the home of a disabled senior, an advanced age person, one with a terminal illness; a senior recuperating from a very serious operation or seeing the sadness in the face of a senior on the recent loss of a spouse or child, volunteer to deliver a delicious catered meal to them and see on their face how much you have made them happy.

Open house
Wednesday, Dec. 21, the seniors open house party will be held in the center for all Wilmington residents 60 years of age and older. A buffet luncheon will be served starting at noon; music of the season will be played throughout the day. Singers, musicians, comedians and dancers to entertain would be greatly appreciated. Sign up for the open house will begin December 6. A $1 donation will be requested.

Driver opening
There is an opening for a meals on wheels driver, to deliver meals to shut in seniors Monday through Friday on a weekly basis. The pay is $15 a day and 22 cents a mile for travel. Contact the director if interested or know of an interested person. A person does not have to be a senior citizen.

Secretary needed
The Elder Commissioners are in need of a secretary to take the minutes at their monthly meetings. Salary is $13 a meeting.

Edie Cunningham

Fake punt play takes wind out of Wildcats sails

by James Pote

Going into their lockerroom at halftime, it looked as if Wilmington was going to come out of the Thanksgiving game as a winner. They had all of the momentum in their favor. The score was tied and both of their touchdowns came after Tewksbury took the original lead on two occasions. The packed crowd was anticipating a win.

However, in the second half, Wilmington couldn't pull off the win. Tewksbury stole the show in the fourth quarter on a 35 yard pass on a fake punt to put all of those hopes of winning back in the closet and waiting to come out next year to close out this victory with a 26-14 win.

This game will go down as one of those memorable games despite the extremely cold temperatures at Alumni Field.

"It was a great game. The kids really played their hearts out today. Tewksbury played well and you have to give them credit. The fake punt play seemed to take the wind out of our sails," said head coach Gerry Sullivan.

Tewksbury opened the scoring on their first drive on a 45 yard pass from quarterback Mike Torode.

Torode's numbers finished at 9-15 with one interception, two touchdown passes, one touchdown himself, three boots for the PAT and also he threw for 234 yards. And he is only a junior.

Two drives later, Wilmington scored their first touchdown on a impressive five yard run by Steve O'Neil (12 carries 70 yards, one completed pass for 32 yards).

After Tewksbury went ahead 14-7, O'Neil took the pitch from quarterback Billy Harrison on a flea-flicker play and found Richie Gillis wide open for a 32 yard pick up which set up first down on Tewksbury's two yard line. The next play, Harrison (4-10 - 25 yards, one touchdown, one rec. 19 yards, 11 carries for 11 yards and also caught the lone Torode interception) dove in for the tying touchdown at 14 apiece at the end of the half.

Now Wilmington was feeling great as they took a breather as the two bands and color guards were putting on their final show of the season. They had the momentum because the final play before the half was that interception by Billy Harrison from Torode on a pass that was bound to be a touchdown.

The defense was playing spectacular. Fred Burke played tremendous. He put on a very impressive blocked in which he held back two Tewksbury defenders to allow Harrison to run in for the touchdown. Burke also sacked Torode for a big loss of ten yards and made a few nice hits on Tewksbury's running game which forced them back a few yards - all of his plays came when Wilmington really needed to stop the potent offensive attack.

Freshmen Jamie Campbell had a great first half and game himself. He finished the game with a total of 14 yards but he made some great blocks and tackles stepping in for the many starters who did not dress due to injuries or disciplinary reasons.

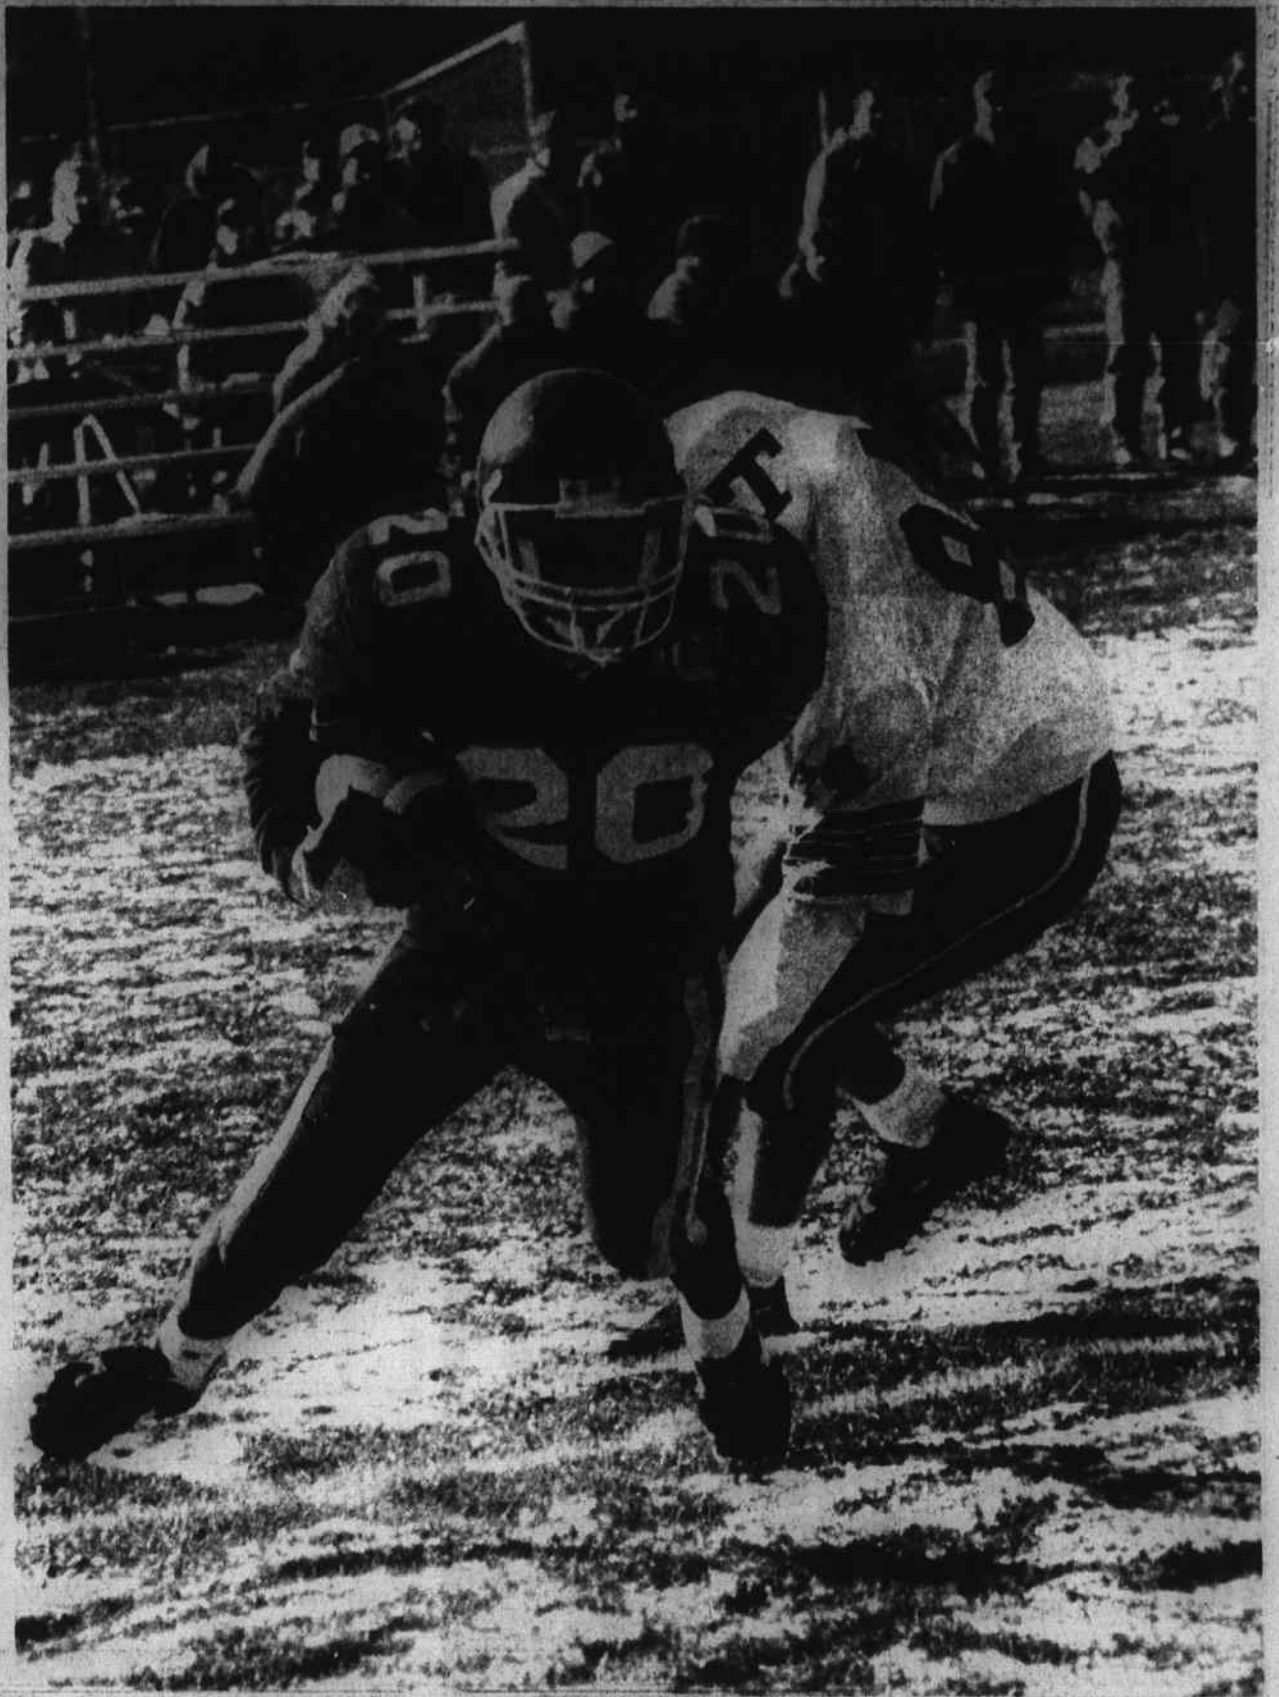

Also playing well, were sophomore guard/defensive end Pat O'Toole, who also made some big plays to allow Wilmington to be in the game at halftime.

"I thought Fred, Jamie and Mike all played very well. They really stepped up," continued Sullivan.

It was all Tewksbury though in the second half. They added 133 yards to their first half total of 198 for a grand total of 331 while, Wilmington only added 45 yards in the second half to finish the game with 165.

The third quarter was scoreless and very exciting. The game remained tied until a little over five minutes left to play on a fourth and ten situation from the Wildcats 35 yard line, Tewksbury elected to loft one on the air instead of the punt to relive the winning touchdown of the 1986 superbowl game, to put the finishing touches on Wilmington. And they did. A 35 yard pass from Torode to Mark Bradley and the game was in the bag for Tewksbury as they added another touchdown on their next play of their next drive for the 26-14 outcome.

And that is sadly, the last Wilmington football game in the Merrimack Valley.

In the last play of the first half, Wilmington's quarterback/safety Billy Harrison intercepts a Mike Torode pass in which he ran it back 35 yards. (Photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Wilmington's co-captain Steve O'Neil is congratulated by his teammates for his impressive five yard run for a WHS touchdown against Tewksbury this past Thanksgiving. To no avail, Steve and his teammates lost in a very exciting game, 26-14. (Photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Coming in next week's Wilmington sports pages will be an all sports year in review section. There will be awards given out for both male and female athletes of the year along with a coach of the year award. Find out next week who the awards will be going to.

First Inning
 Ahhh! What a turkey feast. Now that Thanksgiving is over, Christmas will be here before you know it. But as for this past holiday, it started off pretty good even though it was freezing at Alumni Field. The game was great.

Second Inning
 As mentioned on the front page, don't miss out on next week's special section. This will be the first time the Town Crier has done a section like this.

Third Inning
 It looks as if in my early football predictions that I'm dead wrong with the prediction of Chicago finishing at 5-11. But, I was pretty close with the prediction last week - I said it would be Tewksbury 35 and Wilmington 30. The outcome of 26-14 is somewhat close. Without the wind, I would have been alot closer.

The quarterback sneak worked very effectively for Tewksbury's Mike Torode as he scored a touchdown which at the time tied the game up at 14. (Photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

It takes all kinds - even half-naked, blue-and-white paint-smeared, bandana-wearing, flag waving, spirited marching band types running around in sub-freezing weather - to make a Thanksgiving Day football game a Thanksgiving Day football game. And it was a game (photo by Phil Fenton).

Minute Photo • 2144 Main Street, Tewksbury • (508) 658-5556

If you like photography, you'll love Minute Photo! Their service is top notch and the quality is unmatched. Unlike the drugstore you always deal with a trained technician when you have your film developed at Minute Photo. Print film is processed on site by people who watch for quality. Each print is analyzed for color and density. Manager Karen McGary says it all, "It doesn't get any better!"

What you want is what you get. They don't charge extra for all the extras. Your film gets processed when you want it - No extra charge. Reprints of photos which aren't "just right" - No extra charge. (But, you'll probably never see one!)

A feature that you'll have to try is their new Kodak "Create-a-Print" 35 mm Enlargement machine. You can bring in your favorite negative and compose the photo on the TV screen and have the print in 5 minutes! You can make 5x7s, 8x10s, 8x12s, 11x14s and even 4x11 panoramics. Crop, Zoom and compose to your hearts content! You don't have to be an expert to get great prints. Assistance is available.

Holidays are always the busiest picture taking time in America. People dress up in their finest and funniest. This Halloween Minute Photo is offering a FREE photo of your "Little Monster" in the Minute Photo Pumpkin Patch! Come in between noon and 6 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 31! (another "No charge")

For Christmas, Minute Photo will be taking pictures with Santa on Dec. 5th. This time they will be asking for a $2 donation which will be given to needy children. These photos and photos you take yourself can be used to create unique Christmas cards. Call 658-5556 for details on

Just a friendly kick from the Grandmaster

He has the smile of a young boy who has just gotten a puppy for Christmas. Confidence flows from him as he crosses the room. His easy manner disarms you as he reaches his hand out in greeting. Your inner voice says, "He could kill me with the flick of his wrist!"

He is Grandmaster Samuel A. Kuoha of Prof. Chow's Kara-Ho Kompo School of Karate. He arrived in Reading at Sensei Bruce Titcomb's school the day before Thanksgiving for a five day visit. This was a momentous event for the school. The world wide leader of their Karate was to spend nearly a week working with the students. It was quite an honor.

A delegation from the school, the top ranked students, and Sensei Bruce and his wife Glendean met the Grandmaster and O Sensei Chris Mendosa at the airport on Wednesday morning. (Don't believe the traffic lies. We were in and out in an hour!)

ranked student (fifth degree black belt) in the United States. He is quite the artist with his craft. He competes on a national level and wins regularly against other Karate black belts. Mendosa who runs a school just outside Denver was accompanying the Grandmaster on a European/USA tour.

The weekend was one of old friends meeting and sparring at the Dojo (school). On Saturday the entire school was assembled to work with the Grandmaster as he taught several new techniques. Students were paired off by ability and size and strength. As the Grandmaster demonstrated a technique on a willing volunteer each of the pairs tried it on each other. Much pain was shared.

O Sensei Mendosa demonstrated some of his karta with and without weapons. There are 18 different weapons, mostly Chinese farm implements, and three different karta for each weapon, plus bare handed techniques.

Grandmaster points out an adjustment that Suzanne Rodrigues should make while holding Wilmington's Ryan Condon at bay after he "attacked" with a knife.

Greg Danielius of Wilmington is about to drop to the floor as the Grandmaster points out to the class that it doesn't take any effort, once you have his complete and undivided attention.

Wilmington Youth Hockey overpowers its opponents

Wilmington 3 Peabody 2
The Wilmington Mite C team pulled off another dramatic victory last Friday. Led by Marshall Nevins with two goals, the Cats came from behind in the third period and skated away with a 3-2 victory, leaving many of the local parents breathless.

After a scoreless first period, during which both teams skated the turkey out of their systems, Nevins opened the scoring for the Cats with assists going to line mates Jay Surianello and Donny Heenan.

Peabody responded scoring two goals to take a 2-1 lead at the end of the second period. Undaunted, Wilmington turned their game up a notch. Nevins scored his second goal of the game on sheer determination as he battled the Peabody goalie for a loose puck in front of the net which ended with Marshall forcing the puck into the net.

Motivated by this play, the locals were relentless in their offensive attack. Paced by Warren Fitzpatrick, Scott Sferazza, new comer Mike Welch (fresh from the Pop Warner gridiron), and converted defenseman Michael McMahon at center, Wilmington had numerous scoring chances but in the end it was the defensemen who provided the needed offense.

Eric Raposo scored with less than three minutes in the game on one of his patented end-to-end rushes which ended in his blowing a wrist shot past the helpless Peabody net minder. From that point, Cats goalie Matt David, with the help of defensemen Jaclyn Rideout, Jamie Riopelle and Stephen Peterson shut the door on Peabody.

In desperation however, Peabody pulled its goalie in the last minute, but Surianello countered that move by firing a puck in the open net. Unfortunately, though, the goal was not allowed due to a delayed penalty call on Peabody.

Mite B

Wilmington 6 Beverly 5

The Wilmington Mite B team won its first Valley League regular season game in a nail biting game against Beverly. The Wildcats have experienced a lack of scoring in the tough Navy Division with only one goal scored up to this game.

Both teams were led by their goal tenders in the first period, with Wilmington's Zachary Wilkins the busier of the two. Zachary was called upon to make many outstanding saves in the first period, but not better than a quick pad save on a partial breakaway to keep the game scoreless.

With 1:52 left in the first period, Timmy Aldrich's outstanding forechecking started the play to Joey Pino who then made a good pass to Dean Smith who scored on a low shot. Sixteen seconds later, Scott Rivers kept the puck in the zone at the blue line and fed Dean Smith again, who quickly made the score 2-0.

The second period was scoreless, and again Zachary Wilkins kept Beverly off the score board with many fine saves. In the third period, the Mites appeared to put the game away with three goals to make the score 5-1. Richard Buckley scored on a breakaway, followed by Timmy Aldrich and Jonathan Berkeley, all unassisted goals.

With 4:44 left in the game, Beverly mounted an unbelievable comeback. With Zachary Wilkins saving on the first and second shots, Beverly kept pressing and scored four unanswered goals in under two minutes to tie the game.

The excitement continued as Wilmington regrouped and broke the tie when Timmy Aldrich continued his aggressive play and found Dean Smith for the game winner with 1:45 left to play. Beverly pulled its goalie, but the defense led by Eddie Lopez, Timmy Madden, Kevin Velardo and Scott Rivers kept Beverly away from the Wilmington goal. Bryant Buck, Ray Bennett and James Fitzpatrick also played a large part in the victory.

Tewksbury 5 Wilmington 1

The Wilmington Mite B Wildcats were out to avenge an earlier defeat to Tewksbury in this Thanksgiving Eve clash. Tewksbury scored first on a breakaway early in the first period. Tewksbury kept up the pressure but Richard Buckley was immense in net, stopping all the shots including one breakaway.

Wilmington pressed hard and with 30 seconds left in the first period, Zachary Wilkins scored on a rebound by Johnathan Berkeley's shot to tie the game at one. In the second period, Bryant Buck, James Fitzpatrick and Joey Pino all had excellent scoring chances but could not beat the Tewksbury goalie.

Tewksbury also had excellent scoring chances and Richard Buckley was equal to the task. late in the second period, Tewksbury's attack paid off with two goals for a 3-1 lead and an eventual 5-1 victory.

Squirt C

by James Pote

There are not enough adjectives in the dictionary to describe this incredible Squirt C Youth Hockey game.

Last time the team went up against Tewksbury, they were blown out 8-2. And on Saturday afternoon, they got revenge with a 1-0 win.

The defensive game was the story in this non-stop back and forth game by both teams. Wilmington's Goaltender Paul Sferrezza pretty much stood on his head making every save in sight - many of those spectacular saves to earn an impressive shutout.

The defensive crew lead by Stephen O'Dea and Mike Senarian had a field day stopping the on-coming forwards. Eric Jacobs and Brian Gillespie have continued to improve as they both had solid games themselves.

As for the scoring Tim Rose netted yet another impossible angle goal to chalk up his fifth one of the season thus far when the puck deflected off the goaltender's skate for the lone goal after a few initial saves. The Tewksbury goaltender also played a fantastic game, stopping Chris Cappozzi on two excellent chances.

The forwards hustled throughout the game with great forechecking and solid backchecking which was lead by Tom Doyle, Jon Roman, Matt Collins and Gary Mounsey.

All in all both teams played excellent throughout.

Marc N. Banks

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Marc N. Banks, son of Phyllis M. Banks of Deming Way, Wilmington, recently completed operations off the coast of Haiti on board the aircraft carrier USS American.

Banks and USS America departed Norfolk, Va. in mid-September after uploading soldiers, cargo and equipment from the U.S. Army's 18th Airborne Corps and Special Operations forces. The lack of air threat from Haitian forces enabled the Navy to remove the carrier's air wing and reconfigure the ship to hold the soldiers and oversized equipment.

While off Haiti, Banks and fellow crew members supported Navy and Army helicopter operations and special operations units. The rapid deployment of USS America demonstrates how naval forces are poised to respond to contingencies anywhere U.S. interests are at stake.

Banks' involvement in the operation underscores why the Navy-Marine Corps team still serves as the best option when a formidable force package is needed to remain on station for months at a time.

Whether delivering humanitarian assistance, cargo or troops from the sea, Banks and his highly trained Navy shipmates provide a unique crisis-response option, which can be withdrawn quickly when no longer needed.

Banks joined the Navy in November 1977.

Paul Gramstorff

Navy Chief Petty Officer Paul S. Gramstorff, son of Bette and Frank Gramstorff, Jr. of Astle Street, Tewksbury, is halfway through a four month deployment to South America aboard the guided missile frigate USS McInerney to participate in the 35th annual Unitas exercise with nine South American navies.

Gramstorff is sailing around South America after joining four other ships near Puerto Rico and is expected to stop in Argentina, Chile, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia. During the deployment, Gramstorff and fellow crewmembers will train in communications, engineering, damage control, ship handling and navigation. The exercises are designed to strengthen the coordination between U.S. and South American naval forces. After the exercise, Gramstorff will transit the Panama Canal before returning to Mayport, Fla. in December.

The Unitas exercise demonstrates the ability of U.S. naval forces to serve as the cornerstone of international coalitions, project a positive American image and enhance diplomatic contacts while reassuring friends of U.S. power and resolve from the sea.

The 1980 graduate of Shawsheen Tech joined the Navy in June 1980.

Richard T. Murphy

Marine Pfc. Richard T. Murphy of Bond Street, Wilmington was recently meritoriously promoted to his present rank while serving with Weapons Company, 1st Battalion, 25th Marines, Camp Edwards, Mass.

He is a 1994 graduate of Boston College High School and the son of Richard F. and Christine Murphy, also of Wilmington.

Brian McKinnon

Navy Seaman Brian T. McKinnon, son of Louise Gravalles of Hanson Road, Wilmington, is halfway through a four month deployment to South America aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Stump, to participate in the 35th annual Unitas exercise with nine South American natives.

McKinnon is sailing around South America after joining four other U.S. Navy ships near Puerto Rico, and is expected to stop in Argentina, Chile, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia.

During the deployment, McKinnon and fellow crew members will train in communications, engineering, damage control, ship handling and navigation. After the exercise, he will transit the Panama Canal before returning to Norfolk, Va. in December.

The 1991 graduate of Peabody Veterans Memorial High School, Seaman McKinnon joined the Navy in August, '93.

Lawrence J. Flynn

Lawrence J. Flynn, III received practical work in military leadership at the ROTC advanced camp at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army, Guard or Reserve. The cadet is a student at Northeastern University, Boston.

He is the son of Lawrence and Pamela Flynn of Dewey Avenue and a 1990 graduate of Wilmington High School.

Derek L. Franek

Marine Pvt. Derek L. Franek, son of Louis M. Franek of North Street, Tewksbury, recently completed recruit training.

During the training cycle at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C., recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine, and personal and professional standards.

Pvt. Franek is a graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Santa Needs Your Help!

The Salvation Army has hit the streets again this year with its kettles and the Middlesex East Santa is right behind.

For the seventh year, Middlesex East will become an extension of the kettle program, as it will conduct its "M.E. Santa" through the Christmas holidays.

Because of complications, the number of kettle locations has been lowered significantly and with it the chance to donate. For this reason, the "M.E. Santa" more than ever can help supplement the lost revenues by allowing people to donate by check.

All persons who donate to the "M.E. Santa" will have their names listed in this publication.

Assisting the Salvation Army's efforts takes many forms, noted public relations director Stephen P. Capoccia at the Berkeley Street headquarters in Boston.

The "M.E. Santa," he said, is just one example of the outpouring of assistance that is forthcoming each year at this time.

Salvation Army State Commander Lt. Colonel Ralph Joyce is reporting an increase in the number of hungry families fed in Greater Boston this year.

The Christmas Kettle effort helps The Salvation Army to provide holiday assistance to thousands of families across the Commonwealth.

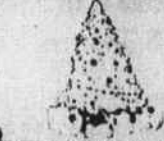

The "M.E. Santa" will offer added assistance to needy families with all proceeds going to local families.

The Salvation Army has attracted more private donations than any other organization in the U.S. while reporting a low cost ratio, he said.

Bell ringers, who first appeared in downtown Boston in 1897, have now hit the streets immediately following the state house ceremony and the "M.E.

ANTHONY MANCONI

Some people equate "beauty" with the face and figure of a "Miss America." That's fine but please don't tell me that's all that is needed to be beautiful. Because, if that is so, you would have disqualified my sainted mother and the hundreds of others like her. Many of those mentioned in my Personality Winners column are in fact beautiful people. I consider beauty of face and figure incidental to the beauty of personal magnetism, compassion and charity for the less fortunate.

My Aunt Nora said to Father Nason, "Look at him, in church every day. I remember that for 40 years all he believed in was wine, women and song." "Now, now, Nora," Father Nason said with a twinkle in his eye, "don't you know that the bigger the sinner, the greater the saint?" With a sigh of resignation Aunt Nora replied, "Now you tell me!"

Folks, a society of sheep will beget a government of wolves... The married man who is as busy as a "bee" -- two jobs, blowing Wednesday nights, golf on Sunday morning -- may come home one day and find his "honey" gone. A woman called the newspaper office and asked the cost of an obituary notice for her departed husband. "Fifty cents an inch," she was told. An audible gasp was heard, then the woman exclaimed, "Oh! That will be awful expensive."

You see my husband was six feet three inches tall."

The fruit stand clerk said, "Lady, please stop squeezing the tomatoes. If you have to squeeze something, go over there and have a 'feel day' with that pile of coconuts."... When the steamroller ran over Arthur DeYoung's cat he just stood there with a lo-o-ng puss.

Just because the world is full of cactus, we don't have to sit on it... Wally and his brother Harold "Lefty" Hill were Marine sharpshooters. One day on vacation in New Hampshire, Wally saw a bullet hole right in the middle of a circle - Bullseye. Wally inquired of an old farmer, "Who is the sharpshooter?" "Tain't none," the old timer replied, "anyone can do that. We shoot at a board on the fence then draw a circle around the bullet hole!"...

France has purchased the Rock of Gibraltar. It will be renamed in honor of Charles DeGaulle, the late General and President, "The Gall Stone."

"Parents are Couples" special lecture

Getting married and raising a family are two of life's greatest pleasures. While there are many jobs to parenting, the additional stresses it can add to a marriage are considerable.

Through the numerous marital stages, couples must take the time to turn their attentions to each other and the marital bonds that keep them together. But how, in the face of so much change, can a couple continue to grow together? This answer, and many more will be given on Monday, December 5, when the Melrose-Wakefield Community Child Care Center presents, Parents are Couples: First and Last.

Well-known Melrose-Wakefield Hospital Health Educator Lynne Reveno, RN, MSN, MA, will be the evening's guest speaker. According to Mrs. Reveno, "Despite our best efforts, marriage can be difficult. There are many changes couples go through during the course of their married life. But understanding the causes of these changes, the intimacies and distances, the conflicts and the stresses, can help a couple remain connected on a common platform of love and commitment.

"Parents are Couples: First and Last will help couples of all ages, learn to communicate in effective ways and become more flexible within the relationship," she continues. "Strong relationships and open communications go a long way in helping couples weather the storms of life's changes, and allows partners to function as allies, rather than adversaries. Through this program, couples will begin to see that marital bonds need attention and nurturing to keep them strong."

Parents are Couples: First and Last will be held on Monday, December 5, in the Perkins Lecture hall, Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, 585 Lebanon Street in Melrose. The program is free and will begin at 7:30 p.m. For additional information, please call (617) 665-8522.

Stoneham gets $500,000 ... maybe

The Stoneham Community Development Corporation has made it through the first step in acquiring significant state funds to spruce up Main Street near Stoneham Square, according to the Stoneham "Independent," which reports that Stoneham is well on its way to acquiring a $499,950 federal grant.

The Stoneham grant application is one among those from four other communities which have passed the first level of review by the state Office of Communities and Development. Stoneham Main Street Revitalization Program Executive Director Patrick Fox prepared the application.

According to Fox, Stoneham's application went "above and beyond" that usually submitted for preliminary review, and the only component which was removed was a $15,000 old-fashioned clock earmarked for Stoneham Square.

The largest portion of the application provides for $260,000 worth of funding for a new "streetscape" which would include 24 new trees with grates and guards, 24 planters, eight turn-of-the-century light poles, 10 metal turn-of-the-century benches, five trash receptacles as well as a historical sign in the Square. Each of the Square's crosswalks would be widened and redone with granite and brick.

The Department of Public Works will direct the project - $15,000 will pay a clerk of the works. And $114,000 will assist small businesses in refurbishing their store fronts. Stoneham Square businesses would have to provide half of the funding themselves with the low interest loans available; and the program will provide an architect to design the store fronts.

The grant will also provide for technical consultants in the areas of marketing, accounting and merchandising; and will fund a third of Fox's salary.

The Stoneham theater could be the most interesting diversion of all - $36,000 in grant money will pay experts to determine just what kind of show-place it will become.

A circus acrobat went to confession. "What do you do?" he was asked. "I'll show you," he replied. So he went out of the confessional and did a handstand, a somersault and a cartwheel. My Aunt Nora (who was waiting her turn) turned to her daughter Diane and exclaimed, "I don't believe what Father Tom is giving out for penance today. I better go back home and put on my gym suit!"

A "piggy back" railroad is sometimes called "Ham-track."... Basketball players never die, they sit in front of me at the movies... My Swedish friend, Oscar Jacobson of Stoneham, told me, "Chipper, it took me 20 years to learn to say 'jelly' and now they call it 'yam'."... Sign in a barber shop window - "Come in, have your hair cut while you wait."

I wanted to join a literary society. I, along with Jimmy Quinno and Robert Burns appeared before the membership committee. Jimmy was asked to spell "faith." Bob was asked to spell "hope." It was my turn next so I figured my word would be "charity." No such luck

- my word to spell was "Czechoslovakia."... That's okay, I'm a "Chowder Member" of the "Clam Diggers of America." Our motto is, "You can fry, steam or bake us but we'll never say a word, we'll just clam-up!"

Folks, I may be excommunicated but I just hate long, drawn out sermons. God bless Father Mark Hannan and others like him - short, sweet and to the point. While on vacation last summer in New Hampshire, the pastor's sermon was very brief. He explained that his new puppy got into his study and ate up most of his notes. After Mass, I said to him, "Father, if there are any more puppies in that litter, I would appreciate one at any cost." Boy! do I ever know who I'd present it to!

Almost everyone at the Elks gives me tips on the stock market. George Guyette said to me, "Chipper, get in on the ground floor, Otis Elevator is going up." Don Harris told me, "7-Up is going to 8." Richie Hamel told me, "Morris Chairs will recline then recover." Ed Baratta said, "Designer Jeans will split." Ira Leonard said, "Mack trucks are good for the long haul." Nancy Sullivan said, "Potato chips are a 'Wise' investment" and it would be wise if I stopped right now."

Kids pick their favorite toys

More than 740 children across America, and over 7,400 hours of play-testing have revealed that the latest trend for this holiday season's most popular toys will be "action PLUS" announced Duracell USA as it debuted its annual list of kids' favorite toys.

The results of the Seventh Annual Duracell Kids' Choice national Toy Survey confirmed and reinforced what has been growing as a trend in the previous six surveys, and that is that children like action toys. However, this year's results identified an additional dimension in action toys as children unanimously selected toys that offer "action PLUS" not only quick-paced action features but features that also enable children to use their physical and mental skills to address challenging situations.

The survey results also reveal that "price does not necessarily translate into more fun as eight of the top ten favorite toys are listed at under $25; boys and girls equally agree that action toys are their favorites; classic toys with a new twist continue to rank high in popularity; and girls demonstrate a higher diversity of interests while boys tend to lean mostly toward action and construction toys.

Of the 24 new toys tested, the top five kid-tested winners are: 1) Radio Control Raceway (Fisher-Price, Inc.) 2) Blast Out (Parker Brothers) 3) LEGO Coastal Patrol (LEGO systems, Inc.) 4) Elefun (Parker Brothers) 5) Sidewinder (Parker Brothers).

It is estimated that 23 million Americans suffer from migraine headaches. The disease tends to run in families, starts in the teenage years, and affects more women than men. Migraine headaches can be triggered by stress, chocolate, MSG, excessive caffeine, bright lights as well as other factors.

Dr. Kumar says that "This painful condition should not have to be a part of regular life for sufferers. The frequency of these headaches in individuals can often be reduced with stress management, exercise, biofeedback, medication and some newer methods."

The lecture and screening is free, but pre-registration is requested by calling (617) 979-7016. Light refreshments will be provided.

Harrows

Major renovations but the same unique atmosphere

Harrows Restaurant on Main Street in Reading has undergone a major upgrade of its facilities in a Victorian motif while still providing a country atmosphere and of course some of the best food and their famous chicken pies in the area.

The renovations are in every area of the restaurant including the entry and take out areas, the main dining rooms and the large private party area at the rear of the building. Fresh, attractive wallpapers, new lighting, charming Victorian curtains they are all part of the re-modeling.

Growth is nothing new at Harrows. It has been going on since its inception in 1933 when Mr. Charles Harrow and his wife first opened the popular restaurant which is located just off on 128 on route 28.

The Arseneault family purchased the business from the Harrows in 1956 and it has been under their watchful eye ever since. For many years it was father Walter Arseneault who headed the business but when his son "Wally" showed a keen business sense, he was brought in to manage and "grow" the popular facility.

A major renovation took place in 1979 and also they added the large private party area at the rear of the building. They also were the first restaurant in Reading to qualify for a liquor license at that time.

While growing the business the Arseneault family never lost sight of producing quality meals and products. the Chicken Pies which are so popular with area families is still made from the original recipe of 1933.

How popular are Harrows chicken products. Wall Arseneault responds "Well, we use from 4,000 to 6,000 pounds of chicken each and every weeks." That's two to three tons of chicken.

"About 50% of our business is take-out with the other being eat-in and special function" says Wally. The staff at the restaurant has swelled to 45 persons.

In order to compete in a very competitive marketplace, Harrows is open seven days a week add on Saturday and Sunday they are open with a full breakfast menu. The rest period consists of 1 day a year, Christmas Day.

Many a local family also enjoyed Harrows other products over the recent Thanksgiving holiday. Their home made gravy is a favorite take-out item while their home made pies are popular desserts during any holiday. Their large entry and foyer serves as a country store where customers can purchase anything from homemade fudge to a number of attractive gifts items from comforters to dolls, stuffed animals to lottery tickets.

Harrows is a busy place and the Arseneault family has worked very hard to sustain the high quality and friendly service that was originated by the Harrow family. in 1933. Now in their freshly refurbished facility they are preparing to enter the 21st century with a new facelift and and old tradition of fine products.

HARROWS RUSTIC ROOST

read the sign in the photo above which was taken during the late 1940's or early 1950's. Notice the vehicles at right. Harrows and the Arseneault family still maintains the friendly atmosphere that made the restaurant famous beginning in 1933. The newspaper advertisement at right ran in a local newspaper in 1945. Harrows has been completely re-decorated in a Victorian motif that adds to the already unique atmosphere of the restaurant.

That's schools with a 'capital' $

Schools mean business ...

And business means education in Lynnfield where business leaders have formed a Business Coalition for Better Schools and have already met with School Committee members Jack Adelson and David Saporito.

Topics under discussion are the capital and scholastic needs of students, adding advanced classes, business mentor programs for students, meeting with new Superintendent of Schools Dr. Richard Palermo, and the possibility of being an advocate to help the Selectmen in decisions related to schools.

The group has also discussed ways to build a community-wide cooperative effort to directly benefit students and Lynnfield real estate property values as a by-product of better schools.

Lynnfield residents and business people interested in participating may contact any of the following: John Kennedy, Tom Adamczyk, Paul Wentzel, David Jamison, Ernest Wronka, Al Spagnolo, Bob Cochran, Wilda Grotjohan, Dean Westover, Jay Kimball or Tony Lucia.

Stoneham High does well, in advance

Six Stoneham High students have been named AP (Advanced Placement) Scholars because of their exceptional achievement on the college-level AP exams.

The exams are taken by about 10 percent of the country's graduating seniors and only 12 percent of those qualify for recognition - with distinction or honor or as a scholar. Stoneham's AP Scholar with Distinction is Lin Chi Yen who earned grades of three or above on five or more AP exams, with an average exam grade of at least 3.5.

Four students are AP Scholars with Honor: Carolyn A. Bane, Michael D. Chan, Joan M. Daya, and Alicia E. DiDonato.

Christopher O'Brien is Stoneham's AP Scholar.

future economic climate of the North Shore and Massachusetts. Over 200 business leaders of the North Shore will be in attendance.

INFANT/CHILD FIRST AID CLASSES

Daycare providers, babysitters, or concerned parents, prepare yourself with the information needed to handle first aid emergencies. In this course learn how to handle choking and CPR emergencies; recognize dangers in the home, car and playground; care for injuries which are common in children and infants.

This course is offered from 6 to 10 p.m. on December 12 at the Reading YMCA. To register and for price information, contact the Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute at (617) 756-2220.

Reaching 'reachable' goals

The North Reading School Committee and new Superintendent of Schools Dr. David Troughton have set out to set up some "reachable" goals, a process which the School Committee goes through annually.

As the new man upon the scene, Troughton changed the process slightly, according to the North Reading "Transcript." He took the list of 20 assorted goals and sorted them into four main objectives: communication, budget, policy, and systems planning. In a two-plus hours session, the group then brainstormed a major goal, and objectives under each goal, planning to come up with additional objectives and activities to help reach them.

As part of communication, the committee determined a primary goal to be "work to enhance communication with the various customers it serves ... developing guidelines for effective communication" and engaging the community in dialogue regarding gender equity.

The budget component of the goals is to "develop a budget which allows the school system to reach its educational goals ... identifying and prioritizing the budgetary needs of the system" and successfully passing a budget to meet these needs.

Policy goals are to "establish and maintain clearly written policies that are consistent with our philosophy as well as state and federal mandates"; an objective of which is to develop a method for systematic policy review and policies consistent with educational reform.

Systems planning goals are to "plan an overall educational plan for the North Reading public schools which meets the expectations of the community and the needs of the students."

Each School Committee member chose a goal to study, in an attempt to determine additional objectives and activities to help meet those objectives.

have the opportunity this summer to partake in International Soccer competition as Kathy O'Connell of Pinkerton Academy will again be conducting a tour to England and Scotland from August 3-13.

"Great feedback has been received from those players who toured last summer. Many of their coaches have commented upon how the tour helped their players refine both their skills and their knowledge of the game," explains O'Connell, who has three times been named "Coach of the Year" by the New Hampshire Soccer Coaches Association.

The tour will kick off in London and work its way north into Glasgow and Edinburgh. Along with being trained by English profession coaches and playing a series of matches against top flight English and Scottish teams, the tour will also include extensive sightseeing.

Interested players should contact Coach O'Connell at (603) 432-8105.

Theater II presents holiday musical

The perfect present - at what price? Theater II, a new community musical theater company, will present a classic, holiday spirit-lifting musical, "Gifts of the Magi," December 2, 3 and 4, at Memorial Hall in Melrose, 590 Main St., in conjunction with Melrose Home for the Holidays activities.

Based on a short story by O. Henry, the musical tells how a young couple each gives up a prized possession to get money to buy the other a perfect gift.

Starring in "Magi" are Kevin Costin of Nahant as Jim Dillingham, the husband; Erin Eileen Rogers of Chelsea as Della, his wife; Gene Vadala of Revere as the Narrator; and Karen Burns, Bill Nagle, Ellen Peterson, Jackie Talluto and Brendan Thorpe, all of Melrose, and Josh Nunes of Reading as "The City."

The curtain will rise on Friday, December 2 and Saturday, December 3, at 8 p.m.

and on Sunday, December 4, at 2 p.m.

Tickets for the family-oriented production are $8 for adults, $6 for children and senior citizens. At $1 per ticket discount is available to groups of 10 or more children or seniors.

At the Sunday matinee, Theater II will also draw the winner of a trip for two to New Orleans. The winner of the fundraising raffle (tickets are $5 each) will receive plane fare and accommodations courtesy of United Airlines and the New Orleans Hilton.

Show tickets and raffle tickets are available at Karisma Card Shoppe in Melrose, 510 Main St., and from Joe Keller (617-662-7257).

Theater II, a not-for-profit organization, aims to produce a season of theatrical productions and present workshops relating to the art of performing. By its charter, the theater company is also committed to help update and revitalize performing space in Memorial Hall. The company debuted in October with a stylish cabaret.

Beyond Gifts of the Magi, the company is seeking actors, technicians and business staff, people to work onstage, backstage, in the it and in the audience. A tax-deductible annual membership fee of $25 entitles company members to advance notice of auditions, productions and workshops, input into the selection of upcoming productions and waives the $10 contract fee for performers.

For more information about the holiday production, the raffle, or the company itself, call Cathy or Bill Nagle evenings at (617) 665-6772.

Some gifts do not fit under the tree!

This holiday season there is a unique gift you can give that won't fit in your living room! Through the Atlantic Cetacean Research Center (ACRC), a "whale" of a gift can be given!

"A whale adoption is not only a great gift for a friend or loved one, but it is also beneficial to the environment," says ACRC Director Steeve Frohock. Proceeds from whale adoptions make it possible for ACRC to continue learning and teaching about the lives of North Atlantic whales, dolphins and porpoises. "We hope that our effort will insure the protection and future survival of the great whales and ultimately, the marine environment," says Frohock.

Tornado, Ivory and Spoon are just a few of the humpback whales that are available for adoption. The ACRC Adoption Program includes 20 whales frequently seen off the New England coastline. Each whale adoption includes the adopted whale's photo and life history, and 8 x 11 Certificate of Adoption suitable for framing, a one year adoption membership to ACRC, an ACRC button, discounts on whale watching trips and a one year subscription to the ACRC newsletter. For $20, you can adopt the whale of your choice.

ACRC is a non-profit organization dedicated to the research and conservation of whales, dolphins and porpoises in the North Atlantic. All contributions are tax deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

This year, give a gift to a loved one and the environment. To adopt a whale, contact ACRC at 70 Thurston Point Road, P.O. Box 1413, Gloucester, MA 01930 (508) 283-3296.

Annual Potpourri of Talent

On Saturday evening, December 3, the Linden Tree Coffeehouse will host its third annual Holiday Potpourri of acoustic folk music. Folk music covers a wide variety of sounds and this show will feature blues, comedy, ballads, swing and more.

Appearing on stage will be Deby Pasternak, Don White, Sarah Stockwell, Dr. Joe and Western Omelet. The show begins at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the Unitarian-Universalist Church, 326 Main St., Wakefield.

One of the Linden Tree's coordinators, Bill Knott, says, "The $6 admission fee for five different acts is to thank those who regularly attend our shows and to encourage others to try us out."

When Acoustic Underground Finalist Deby Pasternak sits on stage playing her acoustic guitar, the blues take on an entirely new meaning. Her music is filled with intense optimism, her songs and her voice sing of hope.

Don White, "I'm from Lynn, what can I say?" is also a 1993 Acoustic Underground finalist singing songs that are deeply personal and funny too. He has attracted a loyal following and acclaim as a songwriter because his songs are relevant to those from all walks of life.

Sarah Stockwell is a powerful new singer on the folk scene. The songs she loves and performs are written by the cream of today's acoustic songwriters like Michael Smith, John Gorka and Bob Franke.

Dr. Joe has been prescribing a healthy dose of original comedy songs that he writes and sings all over the place. He has opened for Pete Seeger, has been a regular at the Improv in NYC, and even performed at the Democratic National Convention as well as the Linden Tree Coffeehouse.

Western Omelet is a Boston-based quintet who performs an eclectic mix of acoustic Southern harmony and Western Swing.

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse kitchen will feature a variety of desserts and beverages. For further information call (617) 246-2836.

Lisa LaMontagne

$1,000 scholarship to Reading resident

When it comes to studying, Christine and Brian LaMontagne of Reading are in good company — their mother's.

Based on her high academic standing and commitment to a career in speech therapy, Martha LaMontagne has won a $1,000 scholarship from the Melrose-area Visiting Nurse Service, 50 Tremont St., Melrose.

MVNS offers a scholarship - this year, for the agency's 70th anniversary, of $1,000 - to a student in a nursing or physical, occupational or speech therapy program who has high academic standing and a commitment to a career in nursing or physical, occupational or speech therapy.

LaMontagne has earned a grade point average of 3.9 (on a 4.0 scale) in the master's degree program in speech and language pathology at Northeastern University's Bouve College of Pharmacy and Health Services. A member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society, she expects to receive her degree in June.

"I've always had an interest in communication disorders," said LaMontagne. As an undergraduate at Connecticut College, she took courses in child and human development, and has volunteered in Reading Understanding handicaps program. "I knew," she wrote in her application, "that when I returned to the work force" after being a full-time homemaker for a number of years, "that I wanted to work in an area in which I could help people and make a difference in their lives."

LaMontagne was one of 30 scholarship applicants. Students who reside in Reading, Wakefield, Melrose, Malden, Saugus, Stoneham, Woburn and North Reading were eligible to apply.

The Melrose-area Visiting Nurse Service offers the scholarship through gifts to its Memorial Fund. The independent, non-profit community agency provides short and long-term nursing, physical, occupational and speech therapy, social work, nutrition and certified home health aide services to its clients in their homes in Melrose and more than 10 surrounding communities.

MVNS also provides well child care - monthly checkups and immunizations by a pediatrician for a nominal fee for children newborn to age 5 and support services for families plus "wellness checkups" for adults. For more information about any agency service or future scholarship, call the MVNS office at (617) 665-4800.

Scholarship winner, mother and wife Martha LaMontagne (her husband, Henry, is a utility company rate manager), "feel(s) very fortunate and excited, at this time in my life, to be beginning a new career that I know I will find extremely satisfying." In the process, she's setting a stellar example for Christie, 12, and Brian, 9, both good students themselves.

"Sharing is Caring"

Middlesex East Publications, in association with the Salvation Army will sponsor "M.E. Santa" this holiday season to benefit needy individuals and families in the area.

In many past years, the Salvation Army has worked quietly within the communities. But this year it is asking for assistance due to increased pressure to provide services.

Funds will be distributed locally in the M.E. communities, which include Wilmington, Tewksbury, North Reading, Lynnfield, Reading, Stoneham, Burlington, Woburn, Wakefield, Winchester, Malden, Medford and Melrose.

A list of contributors will be published in Middlesex East throughout December.

Corporations and individuals are encouraged to include their names as part of their donations as efforts are made to promote the fund.

The "M.E. Santa" effort is actually part of the Salvation Army's ongoing service program. Please Help!

MOVIES

"Junior", Short Takes

by Rochelle Flynn

"Junior" Starring Arnold Schwarzenegger, Danny DeVito, Emma Thompson, Frank Langella, Pamela Reed. Directed and produced by Ivan Reitman. Written by Kevin Wade, Chris Conrad. Rated PG-13.

Arnold Schwarzenegger, playing a scientist, impregnates himself with the help of gynecologist Danny DeVito.

In Hollywood lingo, this is known as a "high-concept" film, meaning the plot can be explained in one sentence. Considering the set-up, it should come as no surprise that "Junior" is shallow and too cute for its own good. What saves it from gooey silliness are fine performances from both the leading and supporting casts.

The big surprise here is Schwarzenegger, who is, admittedly, better at body language than the spoken word. Schwarzenegger's inherent stiffness suits him in the role of an uptight, overly reserved scientist. When the FDA turns down his and DeVito's request to continue testing a pregnancy drug, this stodgy inventor finds himself wash in female hormones.

Deciding to test their formula on the sly, DeVito injects a fertilized egg into partner Schwarzenegger's abdominal cavity. Voila - Mr. Macho becomes Mr. Mom. This concept runs through plenty of obvious gags, but director Ivan Reitman has a light touch when the sexes battle, or compare their differences.

Swirled into this gender bending mix is Emma Thompson's lively comedic performance. Tripping in the face of her esteemed reputation, Thompson's lonely, good-natured klutz is intelligent and compassionate, but could fall over the pattern in a carpet. Thompson, of course, makes those pratfalls look soooo easy.

Reitman almost keeps up the pace, but the whole male mother routine is worn thin by the final 20 minutes. Though more than occasionally cloying, the concept stays afloat only because Schwarzenegger plays it straight. He never minces, never goes for cheap or obvious laughs.

The main body of the story may be a stretch, but the other story, the one about three lonely, disconnected, ambitious people, makes a strong emotional connection. DeVito, estranged from his wife, comes to life caring for Schwarzenegger, who finds his own icy remoteness thawing as his stomach swells. And Thompson finds herself literally falling for colleague Schwarzenegger, especially as he becomes more sensitive with each passing trimester.

The spark between these rather sad, brainy scientists is much more appealing than watching Schwarzenegger's abdominal prosthesis grow ever larger.

A Low Down Dirty Shame is a big, fat disappointment. Keenan Ivory Wayans wrote, directed and starred in this comedic action/adventure that is neither very funny nor very exciting. Ex-cop turned private investigator Wayans is offered a chance to reclaim his good name when former colleague Charles Dutton puts him on a case both thought long closed. There are some very funny vignettes and one or two decent, if overly produced, action scenes. But the overall effect is disjointed and unoriginal. Rated R. **

Star Trek Generations is one of those movies ya' just gotta love, because if you aren't a Trekkie, this movie has a 50/50 chance of putting you to sleep. On the plus side is an amiable cast with a comfortable camaraderie that makes them easy to watch. But, the plot is so complicated you soon find yourself concentrating on William Shatner's hair helmet. A seemingly simple story is twisted beyond recognition as alien antagonist Malcolm McDowell tries to make his way back to a force field that produces endless euphoria. The rules seem to change as the movie lurches along. Let's say this is not Pop Culture's finest galactic adventure. Rated PG. **

Interview with a Vampire justifies the criticism that Tom Cruise was not the right actor to wear the famous fangs of Anne Rice's literary creation, the vampire Lestat. As the decadent, debauched blood sucker, his affected tones are forced and his flippant mannerisms contrived. (Mis)casting problems aside, the film works magnificently as the definitive vampire flick. Director Neil Jordan's twilight world of lush gothic visuals melds creepily with Rice's screenplay, which employs language that makes you once again believe in the spoken word. The story chronicles the timeless exploits of a vengeful 18th century vampire who bestows his cruel gift of immortality upon a grieving widow (Brad Pitt). Kirsten Dunst all but steals the limelight as a young vampire whose lust for revenge will curl your toes. Rated R. ***

The Santa Clause stars Tim Allen as a divorced dad who finds he has been contracted under "the Santa clause" to permanently step into the Elfmeister's boots, like it or not. At the heart of this nauseatingly sweet Christmas confection is a very clever idea and a lot of funny, albeit cynical, lines. Unfortunately, sentimentality and sitcom-like play devices undermine this lightweight comedy. Rated PG. **

The Professional is a European-looking film that may be too stylized, and too off-beat, for some tastes. Then again... Director Luc Besson ("La Femme Nikita") gives us a tale of a hitman who takes an orphaned 12 year-old girl under his wing. She wants to learn his trade, and seek revenge on the DEA officers who massacred her family. The play is a stretch, and Gary Oldman's bad guy is way, way over the top. But the characters and their crazy situation, as well as the edgy aesthetics, give this movie a shove in the right direction. Rated R. ***

IN THE COMEDY "JUNIOR," Arnold Schwarzenegger and Emma Thompson play Drs. Alex Hesse and Diana Reddin, two dedicated but socially awkward scientists who make a few biological discoveries that aren't in the textbook.
